HOOVER DISCUSSES CHILD DELINQUENCY

Tells Catholic Women Condition Due in Part to Community Inactivity.

Lack of knowledge on the part of the parent and inactivity on the part of the community were blamed of Catholic Women at the Hotel Washington.

"There has never been an actual scientific study of what the delinquencies in child health in America are or what the results of those delinquencies are," said the secretary.

"The nearest is the draft, and records show that 80 per cent of the children in the country were born normal and less than 20 per cent were normal. nd less than 20 per cent were normal when they reached maturity.

Talks of Child Welfare.

Mr. Hoover explained the purposes of the Child Welfare Association in its bid for the betterment of child conditions and urged the organization he was addressing to support the movement. "We hope to present the actual facts to the American people."

"Welfare work is divided into categories: The government, which mainains order; public health, public education, better economic conditions, advancement of scientific research and second volunteer organizations' accomplishments," declared Mr. Hoover, who said that the government can accomplish title as compared with the volunteer organizations in handling the welfare problems.

Those elected to the board of directors today were Mrs. John MacMahon, Chicago; Mrs. Arthur Mullen, Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. J. D. Campbell, El Paso, Tex.; Mrs. Michael Gavin, New York (re-elected); Mrs. Harry Benzinger, Baltimore; Mrs. Florence Loeber, New Orleans (re-elected), and Mrs. Frances Slattery of Boston (re-elected). Other members of the board of directors and the officers of the council were elected at year for a two-year term.

Rev. M. I. Stritch's Address.

The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United and the Constitution of the United States contain the foundations of Christian truths and all that is necessary for the solution of presentary problems, Rev. Michael I. Strich. S. J., told the delegates last night.

Paying tribute to the nuns, Father Strich said "60,000 Catholic nuns are giving more than 2,000,000 boys end girls of the nation the mental and moral equipment necessary for true citizenship."

"These 60,000 sisters are doing a fundamentally important work in the life of our nation. The patriotism and heroism of our Catholic boys in the war were born and nurtured in the schoolrooms of the sisters," he declared.

Explaining that when Lord Bryce wished to explain the American government to the European people's he had nothing better to compare it with than the government of the Catholic Church, Father Stritch declared, "No body of citizens, then, in this republic can enter more easily and whole heartedly into the spirit of the American Constitution than those of the Roman Catholic faith."

Rev. Mr. Geresche S. J., of St. Louis: suggested the keeping of a list of rooms that have been carefully inspected as a means of obtaining national co-operation in girl's welfare. He urged that the National Council of Catholic Women put homes for Catholic girls on a business basis. Rev. John J. Callaghan, executive Chairman of the Catholic Drama Guild, addressed the conference on "The Recreational and Cultural Value of Dramatics." Mrs. James E. Mahan of the Catholic conference on industrial problems said, "one of the most potential reasons for concerning ourselves with the problems of women in industry is that 80 per cent of the women in industry are between the ages of sixteen and forty-four. Mrs, Mahan urged the betterment of their condition.

The new senator gave the impression of being a forceful personality. The shape of his face and a small reddish mustache made him look strangely like the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Senator Johnson left the White House to go to the Department of Agriculture with Secretary Wallace to talk still more about the farmers' problems.

Senator Johnson came to Washington yesterday to confer with Presi-dent Coolidge and to familiarize himdent Coolidge and to familiarize himself with what are to be his future surroundings on "Capitol Hill." Accompanied by George D. Brewer of Minneapolis, a political adviser, he slipped quietly into town just before noon, coming from New York and Philadelphia. Boarding a street car, he went to the National Hotel, on Pennsylvania avenue, which in days gone by was a meeting place of senators and representatives.

Having settled himself there, the senator set out in search of Minneapolis and St. Paul newspapers. Apparently unrecognized, he walked

The night the accident happened Capt. French was taken home by a motorist, who neglected to make known his identity. The elderly man said he was not hurt and was able to ascend the stairs to his apartment without assistance.

Coroner Nevitt conducted an inquest at the morgue today. Police of the third precinct were unable to learn the identity of the occupant of the car that struck him or obtain the name of a witness to the affair. A verdict of accidental death was reported. The deceased was a son of the late Maj. Gen. and Mrs. William H. French and husband of Mrs. Emily Ott French.

MISS ISABEL WHITNEY

New York Interior Decorator Gives Interesting Talk on Fresco Possibilities.

Miss Isabel Whitney of New York,

Miss Isabel Whitney of New York, interior decorator, was guest of honor at the Arts Club last evening at dinner, at which Miss Helen wright was hostess. After dinner in the club parlors Miss Whitney gave an interesting talk on the possibilities of fresco in America, illustrating her subject with sketches and designs.

Miss Whitney has made a particular study of the old Italian methods of fresco and has done some notable work in New York and also in Washington. She advocates a closer association of architecture and painting, to the end of evolving a broader scheme of color in American buildings, particularly the facades. In the discussion which followed her informal talk the point was stressed that there is a growing tendency in this country toward the decoration and coloring of the exteriors of structures. Several instances of colored and decorated buildings in this city were cited.
